

Writing Grade 5

Writing is a critical skill for effective communication. Whether you are writing an email message, a personal letter, an ad for your business, or a formal report for school or work, being able to express your ideas clearly to your audience is important. Becoming a good writer is not easy. It takes effort and development of a variety of skills: clear ideas, organization, a voice that holds the interest of your audience, and a consistent control of language, including word choice, sentence structure, and conventions (spelling, grammar, punctuation and capitalization). With new technology, it is possible to electronically communicate in writing with people all over the world in a matter of minutes. Writing will continue to be a communication skill that is required in most professions and workplace environments. Acquiring effective written communication skills will enhance both your personal and professional opportunities.

About the Test

You will be expected to write one extended writing piece on a specific topic. This writing test will be completed in two sessions with a significant break between them. In session one, you will do prewriting, planning, and drafting. This work will not be scored. In session two, you will revise your draft with the Writer's Checklist and write your final draft. Only the final draft will be scored. Examples of scored student responses to a sample writing prompt are included on pages 13-25. A copy of the Official Scoring Guide is also included at the end of this guide.

Hints for Taking AIMS DPA Writing

Prior to the test

- Read the three sample student responses to the prompt on the following pages. Note strengths and weaknesses in the paper as you read. Does the writer accomplish the task? Is the writer's message clear? Are the ideas supported with convincing evidence and support? Are the ideas organized so that you can logically follow them? Is the voice appropriate? Did the writer carefully choose words that are clear and convincing? Do the sentences have a natural flow? Is the paper carefully edited?
- Discuss with other students and your teacher why one paper is stronger or more convincing than another. Refer to the Official Scoring Guide when you analyze the sample papers and scores.
- Practice writing a persuasive response to this sample prompt.
- Score your own paper using the Official Scoring Guide to determine what your strengths are, and then work on areas you need to improve to be a more effective writer.

During the test

- Listen to directions, read the prompt carefully, and be sure you understand the purpose before beginning to write.
- Take time to organize your thoughts before you begin to write. For the extended writing prompt, you may want to create a graphic organizer (outline, web, chart, etc.) to plan and organize your ideas.
- Take advantage of the opportunity to revise your work using the checklist provided. Keep in mind the six traits (characteristics) of effective writing.
- Edit your writing carefully. Your audience (the reader) needs to be able to understand the ideas you are expressing without being hindered by spelling, punctuation, capitalization, and grammar mistakes that interfere with the message. You must be sure your handwriting is legible. Printing your work is acceptable; however, be sure to distinguish between upper-and lower-case letters. Do not print in all capital letters.

Keep in mind...

- You will be given two pages in the answer document to write your final copy. It is important that you take advantage of the two pages you are given to develop your ideas fully. This is your opportunity to demonstrate how well you can write.
- Your final copy needs to be handwritten in the answer document (not done on a computer).
- You may use a dictionary or thesaurus as a reference during the extended writing response portion of the test.
- Be conscious of the traits, or characteristics, of effective writing (idea development, organization, voice, word choice, sentence fluency, and conventions) no matter what kind of writing you are asked to do. The same scoring guide, or rubric, will be used for all the types of writing you may be asked to compose: narrative, persuasive, expository, or functional communication.

The following four examples illustrate the scoring performed for the AIMS DPA Writing.

The first example is scored as “Falls Far Below.”

The second example is scored as “Approaches.”

The third example is scored as “Meets.”

The fourth example is scored as “Exceeds.”

Sample writing prompt:

Imagine a train that could take you anywhere on Earth! You have a ticket in your hand for a trip that can make stops at any three places.

Write a story about what happens from the time you get on the train until it returns to your hometown.

This is the Writer's Checklist you will see on the Grade 4 AIMS DPA Writing. Practice using it when writing to revise your rough draft before writing your final copy. If you take time to use it carefully, it will help you write a better paper.

Writer's Checklist

Are my ideas clear?

Does my writing have words that make it interesting?

Does my writing have a clear beginning, middle, and ending?

Does my writing sound right and make sense?

Did I edit for capital letters?

Did I edit for correct punctuation?

Did I edit for correct spelling?

Sample 1

Writing

DIRECTIONS: Now write your final copy on the following two pages.

FINAL COPY

One Day I was sitting on the couch watching tv. I went to check the mail and there was a envelope then I opened it was a ticket to go on a magic train that can take me anywhere
I want to go. I went to the train stop

Score Sheet for Writing Sample 1

Prompt:

Imagine a train that could take you anywhere on Earth! You have a ticket in your hand for a trip that can make stops at any three places.

Write a story about what happens from the time you get on the train until it returns to your hometown.

Paper Falls Far Below the standard

Ideas & Content
6 5 4 3 2 (1)

Word Choice
6 5 4 3 2 (1)

Organization
6 5 4 3 (2) 1

Sentence Fluency
6 5 4 3 2 (1)

Voice
6 5 4 3 2 (1)

Conventions
6 5 4 3 2 (1)

The underlined passages are taken from the Official Scoring Guide for AIMS Writing (Six Trait Rubric). Papers are original samples of Arizona student writing. Identifying information has been removed.

Ideas and Content: The writing lacks a central idea or purpose. The paper is too short to demonstrate the development of an idea. Score point is 1.

Organization: The writing lacks clear organizational structure. While the first sentence does sound like a beginning, the piece is too short to demonstrate organizational skills. Score point is 2.

Voice: The writing lacks a sense of involvement. There is a lack of audience awareness; there is no sense of “writing to be read.” Score point is 1.

Word Choice: Paper has extremely limited vocabulary. Only the most general kind of message is communicated. Score point is 1.

Sentence Fluency: Sentences tend to be incomplete, rambling, or very awkward. The text does not invite smooth oral reading. Score point is 1.

Conventions: Numerous errors in spelling, capitalization, and punctuation. Only one occurrence of end punctuation is evident. There is a substantial need for editing. Score point is 1.

DIRECTIONS: Now write your final copy on the following two pages.

FINAL COPY

I'm going on a train that's taking me to New York, Minnesota, and Canada. To go all of those places though, it will take five months! But the rest of my family is staying here in Phoenix, Arizona. I'm the only one who's going because I won the ticket in a raffle to go to any three places that I want to. But the reason is that I'm going to these places is because I want to visit my friends and explore in Canada. The date that I'm leaving is the twenty-second of February. I will stay at all the fanciest hotels in the places that I am going. My mom and dad gave me a cell phone so I could talk and speak to them when I feel like it and to keep in touch with them (ten days later). Well, I'm at the train station and boy, is it crowded! I'll be back on

Sample 2B

Writing

FINAL COPY

the Fourth of July, with presents of all sorts. Boy, I can't wait to come back! I almost don't want to go that I'm so excited! Oops, I have to go. I'll write back soon!
Bye-bye!

Score Sheet for Writing Sample 2

Prompt:

Imagine a train that could take you anywhere on Earth! You have a ticket in your hand for a trip that can make stops at any three places.

Write a story about what happens from the time you get on the train until it returns to your hometown.

Paper Approaches the standard

Ideas & Content

6 5 4 3 2 1

Word Choice

6 5 4 3 2 1

Organization

6 5 4 3 2 1

Sentence Fluency

6 5 4 3 2 1

Voice

6 5 4 3 2 1

Conventions

6 5 4 3 2 1

The underlined passages are taken from the Official Scoring Guide for AIMS Writing (Six Trait Rubric). Papers are original samples of Arizona student writing. Identifying information has been removed.

Ideas and Content: The reader can understand the main idea, but supporting detail is often limited, insubstantial, overly general, or occasionally off topic. For example, “My mom and dad gave me a cell phone so I could talk and speak to keep in touch with them.” shows uneven and somewhat off-topic detail. Score point is 3.

Organization: An attempt has been made to organize the paper. The writer makes attempts at sequencing (“ten days later”), but the order and relationship among ideas may be unclear. The writer mentions that his/her family is staying home in sentence three, refers to them again in sentence eight when the information could be combined for clarity in organization. Score point is 3.

Voice: A voice is present. In places, the writing is expressive and engaging. “...and boy, is it crowded!” and “...with all sorts of presents too” are two examples of the writer behind the words. Score point is 4.

Word Choice: Words effectively convey the message. While the writer demonstrates attempts at colorful language (“explore” and “faciest”), for the most part, he/she uses words that work, but rarely capture the reader’s interest. Score point is 3.

Sentence Fluency: The writing flows; however, connections between phrases and sentences may be less than fluid. Sentence patterns are somewhat varied, but many are constructed with subject-verb beginnings. Even with this drawback, there is a natural sound. Score point is 4.

Conventions: The writing demonstrates limited control of standard writing conventions. The writer does not use paragraphing and the ideas run together. Errors do not block meaning but do distract the reader (“faciest” for fanciest and “sots” for sorts). Score point is 3.

Sample 3A

Writing

DIRECTIONS: Now write your final copy on the following two pages.

FINAL COPY

"Woo-woo". I looked at my mother and she looked back. "I'll miss you mom?" I said. "Well then take pictures and send post cards." she said. "Bye!" I said as I ran toward the train. You see I had found a ticket in the street and well it was for the train I'm about to get on. I walked into the train and to my surprise no one was on it! The conductor came up to me and said "Don't be surprised that you're the only one here. Millions of people have found the tickets but have ignored them. So where do you want to go?" Well I guess maybe England, Hawaii, and the Bahamas I guess. He nodded and said "All right take your seat and we're off." So I sat down and as soon as I did we went off at top speed! Suddenly it stopped. "We're in England!" I got off and out onto the platform. "Here you go mom." I looked up and saw a man holding out money. "Thank you very much." I said. I was every where in England! I went to practically all the shops! Until the same man that gave me the money said time to go back to the station. I sat down and we were off again. In thirty seconds we were in Hawaii. I hopped off and when I got I was wearing a two piece, a lei, and a very thick grass skirt. I went to the beach to get a surf board when I stopped. I had no money and suddenly I felt something in my hand. I looked down and saw

Page 5

Go On

Sample 3B

Writing

FINAL COPY

at least $300.00 worth of money so I got a surf board and went to exactly all the shops in the town. Then I heard the train whistle. I sighed and went to the train and I sat and in ten seconds we were at the Bahamas. I got out and I was wearing the same thing as I wore in Hawaii and I had a lot of money and spent it all! So by the end of the day I was home. Well I never saw that train again so that's the story.

Score Sheet for Writing Sample 3

Prompt:

Imagine a train that could take you anywhere on Earth! You have a ticket in your hand for a trip that can make stops at any three places.

Write a story about what happens from the time you get on the train until it returns to your hometown.

Paper Meets the standard

Ideas & Content

6 5 4 3 2 1

Organization

6 5 4 3 2 1

Voice

6 5 4 3 2 1

Word Choice

6 5 4 3 2 1

Sentence Fluency

6 5 4 3 2 1

Conventions

6 5 4 3 2 1

The underlined passages are taken from the Official Scoring Guide for AIMS Writing (Six Trait Rubric). Papers are original samples of Arizona student writing. Identifying information has been removed.

Ideas and Content: The writing is clear and focused. Support is present, although it is limited and general. The writer rushes to explore three places and fails to offer detailed support. However, the reader understands the story, especially the sudden appearance of people and money. Score point is 4.

Organization: Organization is clear. The use of dialogue is an effective way to begin the story. However, the conclusion lacks subtlety. The body is easy to follow. Score point is 4.

Voice: The writer's voice is appropriate for the topic. There is commitment and a sense of "writing to be read." The reader may discern the writer behind the words. The writing has liveliness and excitement: From the beginning "Woo-Woo!" throughout the "top speed!" trip, the writer is excited. Score point is 5.

Word Choice: The writer employs words that are functional, conveying the intended message. There are some fine moments, and the writer generally avoids clichés. More action verbs such as "nodded" and "hop[p]ed" would add energy. Score point is 4.

Sentence Fluency: The writing flows with natural sound; the reader can easily move through the piece. Strong control over simple sentence structure, but variable control over more complex sentences. "I looked at my mother and she looked back." is extremely effective at the beginning of the piece. Dialogue sounds natural for the most part. Score point is 4.

Conventions: The writing demonstrates control over standard writing conventions, and the writer stretches to include punctuated dialogue. Paragraphing would enhance the whole piece, especially the dialogue. Score point is 4.

Sample 4A

Writing

DIRECTIONS: Now write your final copy on the following two pages.

FINAL COPY

It was a sunny Thursday as I walked to the train station with money banging in my pockets. I walked up to the ticket lady and asked, "May I have a ticket for train number 559?" I waited for an answer. Finally, she said, "Yes dear. Train number 9. Here you go." I tried to tell her that she made a mistake and gave me the wrong ticket, but before I could make a peep, she was gone. Then a man came up to me and said, "Oh! You have a train ticket for number 9? Quick, come with me!" He pulled me into a train that had a big number 9 on it. "Hey!" I yelled. "You don't understand. I have the wrong—" "Now, I'll let you in on a little secret," he interrupted. "This is a magical train that can take you anywhere on Earth! You have a choice to go three places! One at a time though, please." My heart pounded! Should I accept this offer or just go home? "Fine!" I said. "Can we go to Hollywood first?" "Will do," he said. "Strap in your seatbelt." Only in five minutes, we were there. "I'm going to go shopping," I said. "I'll catch up with you later." As I walked around Hollywood, I saw my favorite movie star. I looked at her and noticed that we were both wearing the same thing! She looked at me. "Hey cool!" she said. "You look like a nice girl! What's your name?" My jaw hung open, but I managed to say, "Sammy." We talked for a while and became friends. "Hey, do you want to go to the Bahamas with me?" I asked. "Great! When are we leaving?" "Right now,"

Sample 4B

Writing

FINAL COPY

I said, very excited! Then the train pulled up. "Hop in!" I yelled. In 10 minutes, we were both getting tons on the beach in the Bahamas. "This is so great! I never knew I would end up in the Bahamas with you!" I said. "Yes, but my time is almost up. I'm filming a movie tomorrow," she replied. We went surfing for 20 minutes, but then she had to leave. "Bye," I said sadly. "Good luck with your movie!" I was sad, but excited for my next destination. "Florida," I said. In 15 minutes, I was paying for a ticket at Disneyworld. I met Mickey Mouse and many other characters. But at the end, I was tired from all of the roller coasters. The man told me it was time to go back. Soon, I arrived at home. "Now remember," the man said, "Don't tell anybody!" "I won't," I promised. "Thank you. I had a great time." As I walked up the driveway, I turned around to say my last goodbyes. But train number 9 was already gone. "Weird," I whispered to myself, "But I know I'm going to do it again."

Score Sheet for Writing Sample 4

Prompt:

Imagine a train that could take you anywhere on Earth! You have a ticket in your hand for a trip that can make stops at any three places.

Write a story about what happens from the time you get on the train until it returns to your hometown.

Paper Exceeds the standard

Ideas & Content

⑥ 5 4 3 2 1

Organization

6 ⑤ 4 3 2 1

Voice

⑥ 5 4 3 2 1

Word Choice

⑥ 5 4 3 2 1

Sentence Fluency

6 ⑤ 4 3 2 1

Conventions

6 ⑤ 4 3 2 1

The underlined passages are taken from the Official Scoring Guide for AIMS Writing (Six Trait Rubric). Papers are original samples of Arizona student writing. Identifying information has been removed.

Ideas and Content: The writing is exceptionally clear, focused, and interesting. Rich details (the disappearing lady agent, meeting a movie star, and roller coasters) are suitable to audience and purpose. The writer has a thorough, balanced, and in-depth exploration of the topic. Score point is 6.

Organization: The order and structure are strong and move the reader through the text. The writing has an inviting beginning that draws the reader in and a satisfying sense of resolution. There are smooth, effective transitions, among sentences and ideas. Score point is 5.

Voice: The writing is expressive and engaging, and the writer has chosen a voice appropriate for the topic, purpose, and audience. The piece is a narrative with a strong personal voice that is lively. The writing shows originality and the topic has come to life. Score point is 6.

Word Choice: The writer employs a rich, broad range of words in an exceptionally interesting and natural way. The paper has fresh, original expression. Phrases such as "... money banging in my pockets," "...before I could make a peep..." and "...excited for my new destination" add life to the paper. Score point is 6.

Sentence Fluency: The writing has an easy flow and rhythm; dialogue sounds natural. Phrases such as "Will do!" and "Now I'll let you in on a little secret" offer a fluent sound. Score point is 5.

Conventions: Errors are so few and so minor that they do not impede readability. The writer shows skill in using a wide range of conventions in a sufficiently long piece. Paragraph breaks would enhance the dialogue. The writer took chances and succeeded with the correct use of conventions. Score point is 5.

AIMS Six Trait Analytic Writing Rubric – Official Scoring Guide

IDEAS and CONTENT

6 The writing is exceptionally clear, focused and interesting. It holds the reader's attention throughout. Main ideas stand out and are developed by strong support and rich details suitable to audience and purpose. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • clarity, focus, and control. • main idea(s) that stand out. • supporting, relevant, carefully selected details; when appropriate, use of resources provides strong, accurate, credible support • a thorough, balanced, in-depth explanation/ exploration of the topic; the writing makes connections and shares insights. • content and selected details that are well suited to audience and purpose. 	5 The writing is clear, focused and interesting. It holds the reader's attention. Main ideas stand out and are developed by supporting details suitable to audience and purpose. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • clarity, focus, and control. • main idea(s) that stand out. • supporting, relevant, carefully selected details; when appropriate, use of resources provides strong, accurate, credible support. • a thorough, balanced explanation/exploration of the topic; the writing makes connections and shares insights. • content and selected details that are well-suited to audience and purpose. 	4 The writing is clear and focused. The reader can easily understand the main ideas. Support is present, although it may be limited or rather general. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • an easily identifiable purpose. • clear main idea(s) • supporting details that are relevant, but may be overly general or limited in places; when appropriate, resources are used to provide accurate support. • a topic that is explored/explained, although developmental details may occasionally be out of balance with the main idea(s); some connections and insights may be present. • content and selected details that are relevant, but perhaps not consistently well chosen for audience and purpose.
3 The reader can understand the main ideas, although they may be overly broad or simplistic, and the results may not be effective. Supporting detail is often limited, insubstantial, overly general, or occasionally slightly off-topic. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • an easily identifiable purpose and main idea(s). • predictable or overly-obvious main ideas or plot; conclusions or main points seem to echo observations heard elsewhere. • support that is attempted; but developmental details that are often limited in scope, uneven, somewhat off-topic, predictable, or overly general. • details that may not be well-grounded in credible resources; they may be based on clichés, stereotypes or questionable sources of information. • difficulties when moving from general observations to specifics. 	2 Main ideas and purpose are somewhat unclear or development is attempted but minimal. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a purpose and main idea(s) that may require extensive inferences by the reader. • minimal development; insufficient details. • irrelevant details that clutter the text. • extensive repetition of detail. 	1 The writing lacks a central idea or purpose. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • ideas that are extremely limited or simply unclear. • attempts at development that are minimal or non-existent; the paper is too short to demonstrate the development of an idea.

AIMS Six Trait Analytic Writing Rubric – Official Scoring Guide

ORGANIZATION

6 The organization enhances the central idea(s) and its development. The order and structure are compelling and move the reader through the text easily. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • effective, perhaps creative, sequencing; the organizational structure fits the topic, and the writing is easy to follow. • a strong, inviting beginning that draws the reader in and a strong satisfying sense of resolution or closure. • smooth, effective transitions among all elements (sentences, paragraphs, and ideas). • details that fit where placed. 	5 The organization enhances the central idea(s) and its development. The order and structure are strong and move the reader through the text. The writing is characterized by. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • effective sequencing; the organizational structure fits the topic, and the writing is easy to follow. • an inviting beginning that draws the reader in and a satisfying sense of resolution or closure. • smooth, effective transitions among all elements (sentences, paragraphs, and ideas). • details that fit where placed. 	4 Organization is clear and coherent. Order and structure are present, but may seem formulaic. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • clear sequencing. • an organization that may be predictable. • a recognizable, developed beginning that may not be particularly inviting; a developed conclusion that may lack subtlety. • a body that is easy to follow with details that fit where placed. • transitions that may be stilted or formulaic. • organization which helps the reader, despite some weaknesses.
3 An attempt has been made to organize the writing; however, the overall structure is inconsistent or skeletal. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • attempts at sequencing, but the order or the relationship among ideas may occasionally be unclear. • a beginning and an ending which, although present, are either undeveloped or too obvious (e.g. “My topic is...”, “These are all the reasons that...”) • transitions that sometimes work. The same few transitional devices (e.g., coordinating conjunctions, numbering, etc.) may be overused. • a structure that is skeletal or too rigid. • placement of details that may not always be effective. • organization which lapses in some places, but helps the reader in others. 	2 The writing lacks a clear organizational structure. An occasional organizational device is discernible; however, the writing is either difficult to follow and the reader has to reread substantial portions, or the piece is simply too short to demonstrate organizational skills. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • some attempts at sequencing, but the order or the relationship among ideas is frequently unclear. • a missing or extremely undeveloped beginning, body, and/or ending. • a lack of transitions, or when present, ineffective or overused. • a lack of an effective organizational structure. • details that seem to be randomly placed, leaving the reader frequently confused. 	1 The writing lacks coherence; organization seems haphazard and disjointed. Even after rereading, the reader remains confused. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a lack of effective sequencing. • a failure to provide an identifiable beginning, body and/or ending. • a lack of transitions. • pacing that is consistently awkward; the reader feels either mired down in trivia or rushed along too rapidly. • a lack of organization which ultimately obscures or distorts the main point.

© Oregon Department of Education. All rights reserved.

AIMS Six Trait Analytic Writing Rubric – Official Scoring Guide

VOICE

6 The writer has chosen a voice appropriate for the topic, purpose and audience. The writer seems deeply committed to the topic, and there is an exceptional sense of “writing to be read.” The writing is expressive, engaging, or sincere. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • an effective level of closeness to or distance from the audience (e.g., a narrative should have a strong personal voice, while an expository piece may require extensive use of outside resources and a more academic voice; nevertheless, both should be engaging, lively, or interesting. Technical writing may require greater distance.). • an exceptionally strong sense of audience; the writer seems to be aware of the reader and of how to communicate the message most effectively. The reader may discern the writer behind the words and feel a sense of interaction. • a sense that the topic has come to life; when appropriate, the writing may show originality, liveliness, honesty, conviction, excitement, humor, or suspense. 	5 The writer has chosen a voice appropriate for the topic, purpose, and audience. The writer seems committed to the topic, and there is a sense of “writing to be read.” The writing is expressive, engaging or sincere. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • an appropriate level of closeness to or distance from the audience (e.g., a narrative should have a strong personal voice while an expository piece may require extensive use of outside resources and a more academic voice; nevertheless, both should be engaging, lively or interesting. Technical writing may require greater distance.). • a strong sense of audience; the writer seems to be aware of the reader and of how to communicate the message most effectively. The reader may discern the writer behind the words and feel a sense of interaction. • a sense that the topic has come to life; when appropriate, the writing may show originality, liveliness, honesty, conviction, excitement, humor, or suspense. 	4 A voice is present. The writer demonstrates commitment to the topic, and there may be a sense of “writing to be read.” In places, the writing is expressive, engaging, or sincere. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a questionable or inconsistent level of closeness to or distance from the audience. • a sense of audience; the writer seems to be aware of the reader but has not consistently employed an appropriate voice. The reader may glimpse the writer behind the words and feel a sense of interaction in places. • liveliness, sincerity, or humor when appropriate; however, at times the writing may be either inappropriately casual or personal, or inappropriately formal and stiff.
3 The writer’s commitment to the topic seems inconsistent. A sense of the writer may emerge at times; however, the voice is either inappropriately personal or inappropriately impersonal. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a limited sense of audience; the writer’s awareness of the reader is unclear. • an occasional sense of the writer behind the words; however, the voice may shift or disappear a line or two later and the writing become somewhat mechanical. • a limited ability to shift to a more objective voice when necessary. 	2 The writing provides little sense of involvement or commitment. There is no evidence that the writer has chosen a suitable voice. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • little engagement of the writer; the writing tends to be largely flat, lifeless, stiff, or mechanical. • a voice that is likely to be overly informal and personal. • a lack of audience awareness; there is little sense of “writing to be read.” • little or no hint of the writer behind the words. There is rarely a sense of interaction between reader and writer. 	1 The writing seems to lack a sense of involvement or commitment. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • no engagement of the writer; the writing is flat and lifeless. • a lack of audience awareness; there is no sense of “writing to be read.” • no hint of the writer behind the words. There is no sense of interaction between writer and reader; the writing does not involve or engage the reader.

©Oregon Department of Education. All rights reserved.

AIMS Six Trait Analytic Writing Rubric – Official Scoring Guide

WORD CHOICE

6 Words convey the intended message in an exceptionally interesting, precise, and natural way appropriate to audience and purpose. The writer employs a rich, broad range of words, which have been carefully chosen and thoughtfully placed for impact. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • accurate, strong, specific words; powerful words energize the writing. • fresh, original expression; slang, if used, seems purposeful and is effective. • vocabulary that is striking and varied, but that is natural and not overdone. • ordinary words used in an unusual way. • words that evoke strong images; figurative language may be used. 	5 Words convey the intended message in an interesting, precise, and natural way appropriate to audience and purpose. The writer employs a broad range of words which have been carefully chosen and thoughtfully placed for impact. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • accurate, specific words; word choices energize the writing. • fresh, vivid expression; slang, if used, seems purposeful and is effective. • vocabulary that may be striking and varied, but that is natural and not overdone. • ordinary words used in an unusual way. • words that evoke clear images; figurative language may be used. 	4 Words effectively convey the intended message. The writer employs a variety of words that are functional and appropriate to audience and purpose. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • words that work but do not particularly energize the writing. • expression that is functional; however, slang, if used, does not seem purposeful and is not particularly effective. • attempts at colorful language that may occasionally seem overdone. • occasional overuse of technical language or jargon. • rare experiments with language; however, the writing may have some fine moments and generally avoids clichés.
3 Language is quite ordinary, lacking interest, precision and variety, or may be inappropriate to audience and purpose in places. The writer does not employ a variety of words, producing a sort of “generic” paper filled with familiar words and phrases. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • words that work, but that rarely capture the reader’s interest. • expression that seems mundane and general; slang, if used, does not seem purposeful and is not effective. • attempts at colorful language that seem overdone or forced. • words that are accurate for the most part, although misused words may occasionally appear, technical language or jargon may be overused or inappropriately used. • reliance on clichés and overused expressions. 	2 Language is monotonous and/or misused, detracting from the meaning and impact. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • words that are colorless, flat or imprecise. • monotonous repetition or overwhelming reliance on worn expressions that repeatedly distract from the message. • images that are fuzzy or absent altogether. 	1 The writing shows an extremely limited vocabulary or is so filled with misuses of words that the meaning is obscured. Only the most general kind of message is communicated because of vague or imprecise language. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • general, vague words that fail to communicate. • an extremely limited range of words. • words that simply do not fit the text; they seem imprecise, inadequate, or just plain wrong.

© Oregon Department of Education. All rights reserved.

AIMS Six Trait Analytic Writing Rubric – Official Scoring Guide

SENTENCE FLUENCY

6 The writing has an effective flow and rhythm. Sentences show a high degree of craftsmanship, with consistently strong and varied structure that makes expressive oral reading easy and enjoyable. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a natural, fluent sound; it glides along with one sentence flowing effortlessly into the next. • extensive variation in sentence structure, length, and beginnings that add interest to the text. • sentence structure that enhances meaning by drawing attention to key ideas or reinforcing relationships among ideas. • varied sentence patterns that create an effective combination of power and grace. • strong control over sentence structure; fragments, if used at all, work well. • stylistic control; dialogue, if used, sounds natural. 	5 The writing has an easy flow and rhythm. Sentences are carefully crafted, with strong and varied structure that makes expressive oral reading easy and enjoyable. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a natural, fluent sound; it glides along with one sentence flowing into the next. • variation in sentence structure, length, and beginnings that add interest to the text. • sentence structure that enhances meaning. • control over sentence structure; fragments, if used at all, work well. • stylistic control; dialogue, if used sounds natural. 	4 The writing flows; however, connections between phrases or sentences may be less than fluid. Sentence patterns are somewhat varied, contributing to ease in oral reading. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a natural sound; the reader can move easily through the piece, although it may lack a certain rhythm and grace. • some repeated patterns of sentence structure, length, and beginnings that may detract somewhat from overall impact. • strong control over simple sentence structures, but variable control over more complex sentences; fragments, if present, are usually effective. • occasional lapses in stylistic control; dialogue, if used, sounds natural for the most part, but may at times sound stilted or unnatural.
3 The writing tends to be mechanical rather than fluid. Occasional awkward constructions may force the reader to slow down or reread. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • some passages that invite fluid oral reading; however, others do not. • some variety in sentences structure, length, and beginnings, although the writer falls into repetitive sentence patterns. • good control over simple sentence structures, but little control over more complex sentences; fragments, if present, may not be effective. • sentences which, although functional, lack energy. • lapses in stylistic control; dialogue, if used, may sound stilted or unnatural. 	2 The writing tends to be either choppy or rambling. Awkward constructions often force the reader to slow down or reread. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • significant portions of the text that are difficult to follow or read aloud. • sentence patterns that are monotonous (e.g., subject-verb or subject-verb-object). • a significant number of awkward, choppy, or rambling constructions. 	1 The writing is difficult to follow or to read aloud. Sentences tend to be incomplete, rambling, or very awkward. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • text that does not invite—and may not even permit—smooth oral reading. • confusing word order that is often jarring and irregular. • sentence structure that frequently obscures meaning. • sentences that are disjointed, confusing, or rambling.

AIMS Six Trait Analytic Writing Rubric – Official Scoring Guide

CONVENTIONS

6 The writing demonstrates exceptionally strong control of standard writing conventions (e.g., punctuation, spelling, capitalization, paragraph breaks, grammar and usage) and uses them effectively to enhance communication. Errors are so few and so minor that the reader can easily skim right over them unless specifically searching for them. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • strong control of conventions; manipulation of conventions may occur for stylistic effect. • strong, effective use of punctuation that guides the reader through the text. • correct spelling, even of more difficult words. • paragraph breaks that reinforce the organizational structure. • correct grammar and usage that contribute to clarity and style. • skill in using a wide range of conventions in a sufficiently long and complex piece. • little or no need for editing. 	5 The writing demonstrates strong control of standard writing conventions (e.g., punctuation, spelling, capitalization, paragraph breaks, grammar and usage) and uses them effectively to enhance communication. Errors are so few and so minor that they do not impede readability. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • strong control of conventions. • effective use of punctuation that guides the reader through the text. • correct spelling, even of more difficult words. • paragraph breaks that reinforce the organizational structure. • correct capitalization; errors, if any, are minor. • correct grammar and usage that contribute to clarity and style. • skill in using a wide range of conventions in a sufficiently long and complex piece. • little need for editing. 	4 The writing demonstrates control of standard writing conventions (e.g., punctuation, spelling, capitalization, paragraph breaks, grammar and usage). Minor errors, while perhaps noticeable, do not impede readability. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • control over conventions used, although a wide range is not demonstrated. • correct end-of-sentence punctuation, internal punctuation may sometimes be incorrect. • spelling that is usually correct, especially on common words. • basically sound paragraph breaks that reinforce the organizational structure. • correct capitalization; errors, if any, are minor. • occasional lapses in correct grammar and usage; problems are not severe enough to distort meaning or confuse the reader. • moderate need for editing.
3 The writing demonstrates limited control of standard writing conventions (e.g., punctuation, spelling, capitalization, paragraph breaks, grammar and usage). Errors begin to impede readability. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • some control over basic conventions; the text may be too simple to reveal mastery. • end-of-sentence punctuation that is usually correct; however, internal punctuation contains frequent errors. • spelling errors that distract the reader; misspelling of common words occurs. • paragraphs that sometimes run together or begin in ineffective places. • capitalization errors. • errors in grammar and usage that do not block meaning but do distract the reader. • significant need for editing. 	2 The writing demonstrates little control of standard writing conventions. Frequent, significant errors impede readability. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • little control over basic conventions. • many end-of-sentence punctuation errors; internal punctuation contains frequent errors. • spelling errors that frequently distract the reader; misspelling of common words often occurs. • paragraphs that often run together or begin in ineffective places. • capitalization that is inconsistent or often incorrect. • errors in grammar and usage that interfere with readability and meaning. • substantial need for editing. 	1 Numerous errors in usage, spelling, capitalization, and punctuation repeatedly distract the reader and make the text difficult to read. In fact, the severity and frequency of errors are so overwhelming that the reader finds it difficult to focus on the message and must reread for meaning. The writing is characterized by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • very limited skill in using conventions. • basic punctuation (including end-of-sentence punctuation) that tends to be omitted, haphazard, or incorrect. • frequent spelling errors that significantly impair readability. • paragraph breaks that may be highly irregular or so frequent (every sentence) that they bear no relation to the organization of the text. • capitalization that appears to be random. • a need for extensive editing.